THE CONVALESCENT HOME

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of The Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital, formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the fifteenth year since the incorporation of their institution.

The managers provide for both the Hospital and the Home, all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, and many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons, and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. In this work there is a constant increase, and this year's list of clothing numbers 6,000 articles, — 2,400 more than last year, and 3,500 more than the list of two years ago. The cutting out of this immense amount of work is done weekly by the managers, and by several young ladies who kindly give their services every week.

When the present Home was opened in 1892, there were twenty-eight patients. There are now fifty permanent beds, and several emergency cots, bringing proportionate increase in work and expense. The cost of clothing, food, lighting, and heating has increased very much during the past year.

The number of children treated was 388, and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average is 52. The largest number any one day was 58, and the smallest number 18. The total number of hospital days was 18,264. There have been so many inquiries made in regard to this last expression that it is well to state that it is equivalent to 18,264 children treated for one day or one child for 18,264 days.

From March 28th to April 20th no children were admitted because of an epidemic of measles. Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley has been most kind in responding to all calls, especially so in looking after the cases of measles.

The children are sent from the Hospital on Huntington Avenue much oftener than formerly, for experience has shown that improvement in cases, after their removal, especially in typhoid fever, is so marvellous that they are sent out as soon as it is possible to do so.

The beginning of the work of the Convalescent Home was in a little house at Weston in 1874, with accommodation for 6 children, a woman in charge and one nurse, and 19 children received treatment in July and August. In 1875 a permanent Convalescent Home was founded, a house in Wellesley was hired and occupied for two years, when by the generosity of friends an estate in the same town was bought and occupied until 1890. At that time it became necessary to make plans for the future, as the Home was insufficient for its needs. It was decided to buy for eight thousand dollars an estate of 33 acres, in Wellesley Hills, which would allow proper space for a large building with ample grounds. This land, after approval by the State Board of Health, became a gift to the corporation from H. H. Hunnewell, Esq.

Plans were drawn for a new and permanent building by Messrs. Shaw & Hunnewell, the cost of which was to be forty-eight thousand dollars. The friends of the Hospital, and the public generally, were asked for aid, and the response was so liberal that in 1892 the building was opened and dedicated.

From then until now the work has been constantly progressing. In the year 1892 only 109 patients were admitted, and as previously stated, the admissions for the year just closing have been 388.

The managers feel justified in calling attention to the thorough economy practised in every department of the Home, as the cost per day for each child is 55 $\frac{5}{8}$ cents. From close personal supervision they know that the children have abundant and wholesome food and proper care.

The managers are very grateful to all who help in subscriptions and donations. Several very generous subscribers have died during the year, and more annual subscribers are therefore very much desired.

The Sisters of Saint Margaret are unfailing in their care of both Hospital and Home, and the managers, realizing the great benefit of their skilful and devoted service, offer their grateful appreciation.

(WELLESLEY HILLS)
BOSTON

WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital, formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the sixteenth year since the incorporation of their institution.

The managers provide for both the Hospital and the Convalescent Home all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, and many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. In this work there is a constant increase, and this year's list of clothing calls for 6,924 articles, — last year, 6,000 articles.

The number of children treated at Wellesley Hills during the year was 446, — last year 388, — and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average is 50. The largest number any one day was 58, and the smallest 38. This small number was on account of measles during February, when no new children were admitted.

The present Home was built on land given by H. H. Hunnewell, Esq., and opened in 1892 with 28 beds, and, in that and the following year 120 children were treated. Now the Home has 50 permanent beds and several emergency cots, bringing proportionate increase of work and expense.

In 1894, to meet the earnest desire of the staff of the Hospital, the managers consented to try the experiment of keeping the Home open through the winter. This proved of so great benefit to the children and of such value to the Hospital that it has never since been closed. The children are sent from the Hospital to the Home by the physicians or surgeons of the Hospital, and after arriving there are nominally on the service of one of the "out-patient" surgeons, who visits the Home once a month. The senior house surgeon goes out each week from the Hospital, inspects all surgical dressings, changes plaster jackets, recommends patients for discharge, and writes notes on cases, which are forwarded to the Hospital when the child goes home and are bound and kept with the Hospital records. Two graduate nurses, with one third-year pupil from the Hospital, have the immediate care of the children, assisted by five or six nursemaids, who find the experience of one year or two with the children very valuable. The average length of stay for the children is six weeks, though there is no limit of time. In some instances we have kept the children for as long as two years. These have been exceptional cases, requiring the daily dressing of abscesses and where conditions in their own homes were especially unfavorable. At the end of that time they have been sent home in good condition, and it is interesting to know that cases of tubercular joint diseases may recover if well cared for, and kept for a sufficiently long time under good hygienic conditions.

As the Children's Hospital has only 100 beds, and there is commonly a waiting list of over 50 surgical cases, only acute cases or those needing operation are able to be admitted, and these cases are kept for as short a time as possible, sending them to Wellesley to convalesce. Many cases which a few years ago would have remained in the hospital from four to six weeks, are now sent to the Convalescent Home on the third or fourth day after operation. The Convalescent Home might well be called the country branch of the Children's Hospital. The Home also relieves the Hospital of chronic cases too ill to be sent home, and which would otherwise occupy a hospital bed for months, and also gives these improperly fed and tubercular children what they most need — sunlight and fresh air, and with these they develop a good appetite for wholesome food. The improvement in most cases is very marked, especially in the typhoids and empyemas. The children seem to grow and develop in the happy out-of-door life. Those who are not able to walk roll about the piazza on their little wheel carts, which can be made to extend, and the children with splints and crutches run all over the fields, or drive about in their donkey-cart, which is supposed to be the property of the boys and girls on alternate days.

They are allowed to go as far as the donkey will take them — drives apt to be of unequal length! In the winter there are few days when the children cannot be out in the sun on the south piazza for at least a couple of hours, and those who are the happy possessors of two legs are bundled up and sent out to play. Through the winter they have lessons or kindergarten games for two hours in the afternoon. The little children are in bed and asleep at 6 P.M., but the older ones have games or stories around the fire and sit up until eight o'clock.

At the request of the medical and surgical staff of the Hospital the managers are now fitting up a larger room for surgical dressings, with modern sinks, aseptic table, etc., which will enable the surgeons to send to the Home any children requiring clean dressings. The cost of this room was met by a few kind friends to whom Mrs. Peabody made application.

The managers feel justified in calling attention to the thorough economy practised in every department of the Home, as the cost per day for each child during the year was $59\frac{1}{4}$ cents. This includes all repairs and improvements, drainage, stable account, care of grounds, and fire-escape ordered by the State inspector. From close personal supervision they know that the children have abundant and wholesome food and proper care.

Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, has done many a kind service at the Home, and the managers feel very grateful to him.

The Sisters of St. Margaret, who have the charge of Hospital and Home, are unfailing in their care of both; and the managers, realizing the great benefit of their skilful and devoted service, offer their grateful appreciation.

I find this correct and properly vouched.

EVELYN O. WESTON.

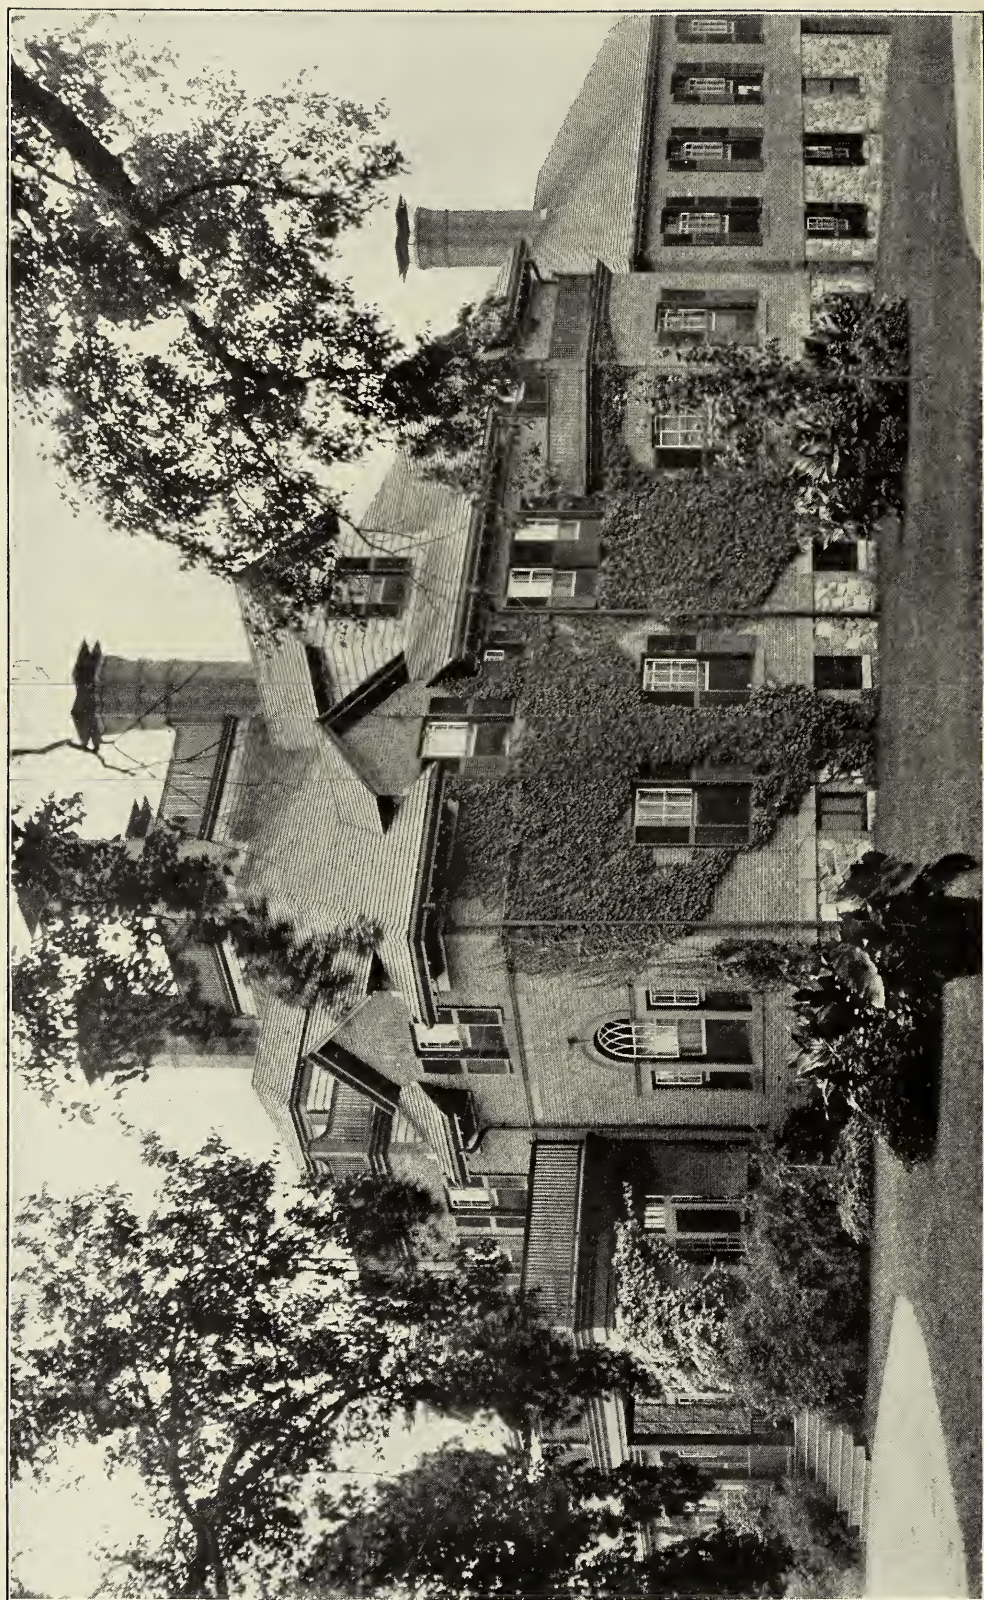

The Convalescent Home was incorporated in the year 1884.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give, devise, and bequeath to THE CONVALESCENT HOME OF THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, in the City of Boston, and State of Massachusetts, the sum of

(WELLESLEY HILLS)

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE managers of the Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital, calling themselves formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the seventeenth year since their institution was incorporated under its present name.

As in the past the managers provide for both the Hospital and the Convalescent Home all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. Every year there is an increase, and this year's list of clothing calls for 7,000 articles. This work is prepared weekly by the managers, who are assisted by the "volunteer aid," and is given out to be made at the annual meeting in February to subscribers and friends.

The number of children treated at Wellesley Hills during the year was 405, and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average was 49. The largest number any one day was 56, and the smallest 28. This small number was for three weeks in June, when there were no admissions on account of measles. The total number of Hospital days was 17,912.

Since 1894 the Home has never been closed, for in that year the managers consented to try the experiment of keeping it open through the winter.

At the Children's Hospital there are only 100 beds, and there is usually a waiting list of more than 50 surgical cases. Only acute cases or those needing operation are able to be admitted, and these cases are kept for as short a time as possible, then sending them to Wellesley to convalesce. A few years ago many cases remained in the Hospital from four to six weeks, but they are now sent to the Convalescent Home on the third or fourth day after operation. At the request of the medical and surgical staff of the Hospital the managers during the spring of 1901 fitted and furnished a large room for surgical dressings (with modern sinks, aseptic table, etc.), which now enables the surgeons to send to the Home children requiring the most critical or scientific care.

The managers call attention to the economy practised in every department of the Home, as the cost per day for each child during the year was 62½ cents. This estimate would usually include all repairs and improvements, drainage, stable account, and care of grounds. This year, however, the repairs and improvements are not included, as for the first time since its opening the Home was extensively renovated and repaired, additions made, etc., and at no time has the building ever been so perfect in its appliances and arrangements as now.

Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, has, as usual, been very kind in service at the Home, and the managers feel very grateful to him.

The Sisters of St. Margaret have charge as always of Hospital and Home, and are unfailing in their care. The managers fully realize their devoted service and offer them their heartiest appreciation.

In closing this report it is necessary to impress on the public the increase in the expenses with the increase in the work. It is a source of untold satisfaction to the managers to realize the greater usefulness of the Home, but it is at the same time a source of anxiety to them to provide means to carry on the work, and they make a most earnest plea for an adequate response to their simple statement of their need of money.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital, calling themselves formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the eighteenth year since their institution was incorporated under its present name.

As in the past, the managers provide for both the Hospital and the Convalescent Home all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. Every year this increases, and this year's list of clothing calls for upwards of 6,000 articles. This work is prepared weekly by the managers of the Home, who are helped by the "volunteer aid," and is given out to be made at the annual meeting in February to subscribers and friends.

The number of children treated at Wellesley Hills during the year was 422, and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average was 46. The largest number any one day was 59, and the smallest 25. The total number of Hospital days was 16,843.

The total number treated during the year is 17 more than in 1901. While the daily average is smaller, this is to be accounted for by the fact that fewer patients have remained in the Home for a long period of time — also, owing to the presence of measles through the summer months, the wards were kept comparatively light, though admissions did not stop. The new isolated ward has already proved of value, and on account of the opening of this ward, one more nurse-maid has been added to the staff.

Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, has, as heretofore, been most kind in responding to all calls upon his time and services, especially in cases of sudden illness and in the appearance of any contagious disease.

One of the surgeons of the Out-Patient staff visits the Home each month, and a volunteer assistant and a house surgeon go out every Friday afternoon to look over all dressings and apparatus, and recommend children for discharge to their own homes, or for transfer to the Hospital, when they think the case needs further hospital treatment.

Since 1894 the Home has never been closed, for in that year, at the urgent request of the hospital staff, the managers consented to try the plan of keeping it open through the winter. This plan, though it has proved most successful so far as the benefit to the patients is concerned, has, of course, doubled the expense of keeping up the institution, and there is a deficit of about three thousand dollars in the income of this last year.

The managers, therefore, make an earnest appeal for a continuance of the annual subscriptions and donations, and the Treasurer will gratefully acknowledge any sum, no matter how small, to aid in carrying on this work.

The Sisters of St. Margaret have charge of both Hospital and Home, and have given the most devoted care and service. The managers fully realize their indebtedness to them and hereby offer them the most thorough appreciation.

EVELYN O. WESTON,
Secretary.

DECEMBER, 1902.

Immediately after the Annual Meeting on Monday, January 5, 1903, the Secretary, Mrs. Henry C. Weston, sent in her resignation, which was most reluctantly accepted, and Mrs. Henry S. Hunnewell was elected to fill her place.

MARY B. HUNNEWELL,
Secretary.

Since the foregoing report was written a great misfortune has occurred. On the twentieth of January a fire broke out in the Convalescent Home, which, with the exception of a part of one ward, entirely destroyed the building. Fortunately, it happened in the daytime. It was first discovered at about nine o'clock in the morning, in the top of the main building. Owing to the unusually fine construction of the building it burned slowly, so that all the children, forty-eight in number, ranging in ages from fourteen months to fourteen years, were taken out in safety, carried temporarily to the house on the place belonging to the Home, and later sent in by special car to the Hospital in Boston. The coolness and calmness of the nurses and all the employees of the Home were wonderful, and are owing to the wise care and forethought of Sister Caroline, the Superintendent of both Children's Hospital and Convalescent Home. She had taught them beforehand how to act in case of fire, and they remembered her teaching. She went immediately to the Home on hearing of the fire, and to her quiet steadiness and calmness, and her wise arrangements for the care of the children, their safety is due. The Managers of the Home desire to express in the strongest manner their appreciation and gratitude. The Home must be immediately rebuilt—the work of the Hospital demands it, and special contributions for that purpose are earnestly requested. But the regular expenses of the work are still running on. The Managers have already secured a house in Wellesley Hills which can be used as a temporary Home while the other is rebuilding. For this, of course, they must pay rent; so that the need of annual subscriptions and donations is the same as usual. They feel confident that their friends will help them in this great emergency.

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

THE Managers of The Children's Hospital present their thirty-fifth Annual Report.

The year began with the destruction by fire of The Convalescent Home, at Wellesley, which is so intimately associated with the Hospital that we felt its loss as keenly as though it had been our own. With great energy the Managers of that institution went immediately to work and secured the lease of a house where some twenty-six convalescents can be cared for, and began at once the work of raising funds to rebuild.

Feeling that it was not wise to ask for too much at once, and that an urgent appeal for funds to enable us to build a new hospital in Boston might interfere with the necessary amount being raised for The Convalescent Home, we have deferred pressing the matter of solicitation of funds for a new hospital, to be erected near the new Harvard Medical School, as outlined in our last Report, but wish again to place our existing situation before the public. Our present building was erected in 1882, and the last addition was built in 1890. Since 1890 the number of patients treated annually in the wards has increased from 406 in 1890 to 1,476 in 1903, and the visits to the Out-Patient Department have increased from 7,291 in 1890 to 28,764 in 1903. The result is that the present building has been entirely outgrown, that the work is done under conditions of over-crowding, which are harassing both to its medical staff and to the public. The building, over twenty years old, intended to care for but a fourth part of the numbers now treated, is not only entirely insufficient in room for dealing with the increased number of patients, but is also ill-adapted to modern methods of medical and surgical treatment. The advantage of having a modern hospital located in close proximity to the new medical school and the other hospitals which are to be erected in that vicinity cannot be overestimated; and if the Hospital is to maintain in the future the excellent reputation that it has had in the past, the move must be made. To carry it out we must have a large addition to our funds; and we ask those persons who are interested in relieving suffering children to aid us. We can say with confidence that, owing to the skill and devotion of the physicians and surgeons who have been connected with it, and the faithful care and attention of the Sisters of St. Margaret who have had charge of the administration, no hospital in the country has a finer history of usefulness. To maintain its high position, to take advantage of the present exceptional opportunity for re-location, and to do justice to the work which has made this position attainable, we must rely upon the co-operation of the public and its provision of funds for a new building. The great advance in the surgical treatment of diseases of children during the past few years has been emphasized by the work of the staff of The Children's Hospital in cases of congenital dislocation of the hip, following the method of Dr. Lorenz. The percentage of cases successfully treated is very large. The Hospital is greatly indebted to the interest of Mr. Ralph W. Bartlett, who has materially aided in the work of treating this deformity, especially in older children, by the aid of an appliance devised by him for the purpose. The value of the recently equipped X-ray department has been great in this connection, and in determining with certainty the extent of the deformities to be treated.

During the year we have received legacies from the estates of Edward I. Browne, Emily E. Sears, Susan T. Crosby; and Mrs. Mehitabel Wilson has given us funds for a memorial bed in memory of her two sisters. These gifts are gratefully acknowledged.

During the coal famine of a year ago we were provided with fuel through the generosity of Mr. Washington B. Thomas, to whom we express our sincere thanks.

On December 1, 1903, occurred the death of Dr. William Ingalls, in his ninety-first year. Dr. Ingalls was one of the original members of the medical staff of the Hospital, and also of the Board of Managers, and had continued as a manager until his death. He always took the greatest interest in the Hospital, and by his loving and kindly disposition was endeared to all with whom he had to do. We wish to record our appreciation of his services to the Hospital, both as physician and as manager.

HENRY WHEELER.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Faculty of the Training School herewith present the report of the thirteenth year of the school.

The curriculum of the School has been practically unchanged from the previous year, with the same period of practical instruction in the care of children, infants, and adults, and the special course in cooking established three years since.

The usual four months' course in the care of adults has been given at the Massachusetts General Hospital as during the preceding year.

The course in Massage, which has previously been given at the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, has this year been given at the Hospital, by an instructor from that School.

Five pupils graduated during the year.

The request for our nurses to take charge of departments in other hospitals is constantly increasing. Some of the demands we have been able to supply, and several of our graduates are now filling responsible positions in other institutions.

One addition has been made the past year to the corps of graduates, viz., an instructor of probationers. This innovation has already demonstrated its worth.

The present staff of the School consists of:—

Superintendent of Nurses.
Assistant Superintendent.
Three graduate Head Nurses.
An instructor of Probationers.
Instructor in Cooking.

Pupils as follows:—

Third year	6
Second year	14
First year	10
Total	30

The Alumnæ Association has had a prosperous year. A large proportion of members have joined the Massachusetts State Nurses' Association, organized last June, in the interests of the movement to secure State Registration of Nurses.

SISTER SUSANNA,
Secretary.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Nineteenth Annual Report.

The character of the work during the past year is unchanged, owing, however, to the disastrous fire of January 20, which destroyed the Home; the amount accomplished in comparison with preceding years is very much smaller. The number of children treated during the year is 277, and the daily average has been 13, against 422 treated in 1902, with a daily average of 46.

Immediately after the fire the efforts of the managers were directed towards hiring a temporary home. This they succeeded in doing, as a well-built house in Wellesley Hills, which had been newly set in order, with ample grounds and surrounded by fine trees, was secured at a reasonable rent. With skilful management and small expense this house was fitted to receive 15 children, a small but adequate room for surgical dressings was constructed out of a corner of the piazza, and for the play-room an unused barn was put into immediate service. On March 16 this Home was opened with Miss Brooke in charge.

One of the surgeons of the Out-Patient staff of the Hospital visits the Home each month, and a volunteer assistant and house surgeon go out every week to look over all dressings and apparatus, and to recommend children either for discharge to their own homes, or for transfer to the Hospital, as the case demands.

Since 1894 the Home has been kept open the whole year round, although this was not the original intention of the managers, but from small beginnings the Home has grown to a large Institution, the running expenses of which increase every year. As the doctors now send patients on the third or fourth day after operation, the condition of the children is more critical than formerly, and surgical dressings and more skilled attention are needed for individual cases. The Hospital now calls for a larger Convalescent Home than the old one, with a capacity for at least one hundred children.

Appeals to the public for the new building have been generously answered, but the requisite amount is not yet raised. For this purpose any sums however small will be gratefully received and acknowledged by the Treasurer, Mrs. H. G. Curtis, 179 Marlborough Street.

If anything were needed to prove the value of the Home, it would be the fact that the work of the Hospital in Boston has been so seriously crippled since the fire. Fewer children have been received during the past year than in the preceding one, and it has been necessary to send many patients to their homes while still in need of skilled treatment, in order to make room for more urgent cases.

Beside the running of the Convalescent Home, the managers provide the Hospital with all necessary clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, dresses, caps and aprons for the nurses, and jackets and aprons for the surgeons. This list increases every year, and for 1904 upwards of 6,000 articles are called for. These are cut out during the winter by managers and friends who volunteer their services. When ready the work is given out to subscribers and poor women to be finished.

At the October meeting it was unanimously decided to try an interesting experiment at the Home, namely, that of the Fresh Air cure for tuberculous and nervous patients. Dr. E. H. Bradford and Dr. H. L. Burrell had been asked to look up the subject as applied heretofore only to adults, and they addressed the Board, giving the result of their investigations, and strongly advising that the said cure be tried for the children at the Convalescent Home. Plans were shown for a shed or shack, the sides of which were to consist of sliding doors, to be kept open day and night when possible. Here the children were to live, only going to the main building for meals and necessary surgical dressings. This matter was voted on and put into the hands of the building committee.

In December, when the managers went to the annual Christmas Tree which they give at the Home, they had the pleasure of seeing the scheme in operation, and a commodious shed 40 feet long by 20 feet wide, furnished with eight cots and two stoves, in constant use. Three doctors of the hospital staff are carefully watching the new treatment, and although it is too soon as yet to say what benefits may accrue, both doctors and nurses agree in believing in the great value of the experiment.

In February the managers met with a severe loss in the death of Mrs. T. C. A. Linzee, one of the earliest and most valued members of the Board. Her long and faithful services are gratefully recognized, and her unflagging interest and zeal sincerely missed by all those associated with her in this charity so dear to her heart.

The managers wish to express their grateful thanks to the Sisters of St. Margaret for their untiring care at both Hospital and Home, and to Miss Brooke for her steady and faithful service at the Convalescent Home ; also to Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, who is ever ready and willing to respond to cases of emergency ; and they take this opportunity of acknowledging the kindness of the Boston and Albany R. R. in providing the children with free transport in a special car from Wellesley Hills to Boston on the day of the fire.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children —patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twentieth Annual Report. The work of the past year has been most interesting, as demonstrating the value of the shack or fresh-air treatment for tuberculous and nervous patients.

In December, 1903, the beginning was made with eight children, who lived day and night in a shed, forty feet long by twenty feet wide, provided with sliding doors and a row of windows above, the atmosphere being tempered by two stoves. One very cold night the thermometer dropped to 18° Fahr., but the average temperature during the unusually severe winter was 50°.

At no time did the children complain of being cold, and their appetites and general health showed a marked improvement from the first. At night each child wore, under the blankets, woollen undergarments, flannel nightgown, bed-shoes, and hood, and was finally put into a big flannel bag, which was fastened round the neck.

Now, at the end of twelve months, both doctors and nurses give the system their unqualified approval.

The number of patients treated in the Home during the year is 245, with a daily average of 29, against 277 treated in 1903, with a daily average of 13. The apparent incongruity of this statement is accounted for by the fact that many cases of tuberculous joint were kept for several months to insure thorough treatment.

The Building Committee has had much trouble in placing the new Home, as, owing to great difficulty in draining the soil, the original site had been condemned for the open shack system by the Board of Health. After vainly seeking for a more favorable locality, it was finally decided to return to the former site, where by acquiring an adjoining lot of land the objectionable brook could be drained ; and this with an elaborate sewage disposal plant "renders the land entirely suitable from a sanitary standpoint."¹

In the meantime the plans for the building were approved and accepted by the Managers, who here wish to express their appreciation of the unfailing courtesy and patience shown them by the architect, Mr. Bigelow, of the firm of Winslow & Bigelow ; and on the 7th of November the corner-stone was laid, with a simple service of prayer. It is hoped and expected that the Home will be ready for occupancy in the early summer of 1905.

The doctors and surgeons of the Hospital have, as usual, kept the patients under regular and systematic supervision, visiting them every week, and recommending them either for discharge to their own homes or for a return to the Hospital, as the case demands. Miss Brooke, the able nurse at the head of the Home, whose term had expired in the autumn, was re-engaged, with Miss Robinson as assistant.

In addition to the work at the Convalescent Home, the Managers undertake to provide the Hospital in Boston with all the clothing, boots, and shoes for the children ; dresses, caps, and aprons for the nurses ; jackets and aprons for the surgeons ; and all bed and table linen, as well as bandages. Because of the loss by fire in January, 1903, and in preparation for the new Home, a very large number of articles is required, the list amounting to upwards of fourteen thousand pieces. These are cut out during the winter by Managers and friends, who offer their services, and when ready are given out to subscribers and poor women to be finished.

The Sisters of St. Margaret have, as ever, been unfailing in their care and devotion at both Hospital and Home. Towards them the Managers feel a sense of gratitude and appreciation which can never be expressed. They also wish to thank Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, for his kindness in responding to any emergency case which may

A gift of $500 endows a Memorial Bed. One such has been given, and a brass tablet engraved with the name placed in the Home. This tablet was saved from the fire and will be replaced in the new building.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

IN making this, their thirty-seventh annual report to the Corporation, the Managers find themselves again constrained to draw attention to the fact that the growing demand upon the charitable service which it is the peculiar province of this Hospital to render, and the general improvement in measures of relief, to which its Medical and Surgical Staff have been large contributors, increasingly emphasize the inadequacy of the holdings of the Corporation, in buildings and in funds, to the continued sustaining of a work which has given to The Children's Hospital in the city of Boston an enviable reputation for the advanced character of its service, the efficiency and economy of its administration, and the value of its contribution to the welfare of the community.

The extent to which the existing provision, both accommodative and sustaining, has been outgrown since the Hospital building on Huntington Avenue was first occupied, twenty years ago, can be only moderately estimated when it is said that its work has more than quadrupled ; it is necessary to see the thoughtful adaptation of meagre means to large ends, the duplications of service, which make one room answer for two, the crowding where there should be ample space, to attain a proper appreciation of the absolute necessity for newer and larger buildings and more adequate support to a charity distinctive both in the quality, and the amount, of its service.

The function of a hospital being the administration of public contributions, as the means by which members of the medical profession can carry out measures of relief and contribute to the increase and spread of helpful knowledge, it is desirable that some presentation of working efficiency should be made as the basis of appeal for necessary support. Tabulated statements, while of value to the medical profession, do not answer this general purpose, and it has been deemed advisable to incorporate, in this report, statements as to the work of the several departments, which have been prepared by members of the Medical and Surgical Staff of the Hospital and which will convey an idea both of efficiency and of needs.

In addition to its medical and surgical wards in the building on Huntington Avenue, and corresponding wards in the subsidiary hospital of the Convalescent Home in Wellesley, The Children's Hospital conducts a large out-patient department, an orthopedic department, a department of out-door relief, an efficient training school for nurses, and departments for the treatment of the nervous diseases of children, of diseases of the throat, and departments of pathological and X-ray investigation; in addition there is, in connection with the Hospital, but under separate corporate management, a shop for the manufacture of appliances for the correction of deformities, administered under the direction of the Surgical Staff of the Hospital.

An inspection of the Treasurer's balance sheet will show that we have, invested in the land and buildings on Huntington Avenue, now in use, the sum of $316,894.77, that we have purchased land, adjoining the new Medical School of Harvard University, for the erection of a new building at an expense of $120,729.78, that our funds, invested in income-producing securities, amount to $433,501.10.

A new hospital building will cost much more than the price that can be obtained by a sale of our land and buildings on Huntington Avenue, and the expense of maintaining a new and improved building, with modern appliances, will be so great that we do not feel justified in starting the building until our funds have been greatly increased.

We gratefully acknowledge the receipt of bequests from the estates of the following persons received during the year: Charles H. Hayden, $20,000; Mary Sophia Walker, $1,000; George William Boyd, $5,000; Sarah Wyman Whitman, $10,000; Harriet W. Taber, $500 (balance). Total, $36,500.

A perusal of the following statements will show how urgent is the need of a new hospital, and we hope that the generous people of our city will supply us with the money.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

THERE are a number of significant facts which all who are interested in the medical diseases of children should know in connection with the medical side of The Children's Hospital.

The medical wards of the Hospital are not only a refuge for a class of cases which probably would die unless received in them, but they also represent much from an educational point of view ; for it is here that the poorer class of children are taught to appreciate the beneficial results of cleanliness, order, and obedience, and the parents, learning through the children, acquire better ideas of how to adjust and manage their households, and to provide simple and economical methods of amusing, clothing, and making life pleasant for their children. It is well for the charitable public to appreciate this side of medical charity, and give freely to help carry out what not only is a charity, but the furtherance of a duty.

The medical side of the Hospital has grown, year by year, until it no longer has means at its command to satisfy the needs of the poor and the increasing demands which are continually being made upon it. The Out-Patient Department is so inadequate for the accommodation of the throngs of worthy poor, who may be said to overflow its examining rooms, that there is no question but that money can be well spent in enlarging it.

There is an important difference between the character of the medical and surgical services of a hospital, in that the surgical beds are kept full by a long waiting list from which the cases can be drawn whenever the hospital is ready for them, while on the medical side the cases are of a class which cannot wait and, as a rule, must be received and treated at once or not at all. This means, sometimes, an overflow of patients who cannot wait and yet cannot be accommodated, and that lives are lost among sick children by the pneumonias or the gastro-enteric diseases or by the acute infections, lives which might have been saved were it possible to secure admission to the hospital.

It is interesting in this connection to note how greatly the number of patients has increased on the medical side since 1884, thus showing the necessity for provision of greater accommodation. In 1884 98 cases were treated in the wards and 266 new cases in the Out-Patient Department. In 1905, 589 cases were treated in the wards and 2,500 in the Out-Patient Department.

During twenty-two years the medical cases treated in the wards increased 501 per cent and the surgical 455 per cent. The total number of new and old cases treated in the Medical Out-Patient Department in eighteen years has increased 477 per cent; in the surgical, 266 per cent. The new patients treated in the Medical Out-Patient Department in twenty-two years have increased 839 per cent; in the surgical, 675 per cent.

It is a matter of frequent occurrence that physicians, both in different parts of the city and in our own Medical Out-Patient Department, are unable to get a bed for a child which ought to have one at once, and where there is no question of being able to delay until a bed can be obtained. It is especially of importance, on the medical side, that a number of beds should be waiting for the children, and not that the children should wait for the beds.

The Children's Hospital, in its medical wards, gives what no other institution in the State gives or approaches to giving, — it cares for the acute and dangerous diseases of children in such an advanced, scientific, practical, and educational way as to command the admiration of all who have entered its doors and understood its work.

It has already been made evident that, as a teaching centre for the class of cases which the physician meets in his practice, this Hospital is of inestimable practical value; and if it were for this reason alone, its work as a public medical life-saver should be widened until the children who ought to be treated and studied in the wards can be so provided for.

THE GENERAL SURGICAL SERVICE

THE general surgical service at The Children's Hospital has existed a little over two years. As a matter of agreement and convenience it was decided to segregate these cases, as they represent an important field in general surgery. The number of patients treated on the general surgical service, House and Out-Patient Department, is already larger than on the orthopedic service, House and Out-Patient Department. Fortunately, the cases require shorter durations of treatment, and hence can be cured more rapidly. In the general surgical service of the House there are from eighteen to twenty beds, and in these beds have been treated 405 patients with major surgical diseases.

Seventy-eight operations have been done upon seventy-two patients for the radical cure of hernia, and with one exception all of these cases have been discharged well. While it is too early as yet to say that among these cases there may be no relapse, it is worthy of note that during the past two years no relapse has been observed. Three cases of strangulated hernia have been operated upon.

Fifty-seven operations for empyema have been done during the past year at the Hospital on fifty-two cases, five patients being readmitted for operation. The work that has been done has been very satisfactory, and information is being obtained as to the class of cases in which it is necessary to do a more radical operation.

A large number of abdominal emergencies are admitted to the Hospital, cases that demand immediate treatment,—for example, twenty-three cases of appendicitis, three cases of intestinal obstruction, one of intussusception, and a number of cases of imperforate anus or rectum.

There have been thirty-two fractures treated. Many of these cases were for malunion, the result of previous unsatisfactory treatment. Many cases of fracture of the thigh which demand hospital care have been treated. At present these cases must remain for at least six weeks in the Hospital, but it is to be hoped that eventually a method of treatment will be devised by which they can, with safety, be transferred to the Convalescent Home.

The general surgical service has apparently become a place of last appeal for the relief of extraordinary congenital malformations, such as cleft palate, hare lip, branchial cysts, spina bifida, deformed ears, deformities of the bladder and urethra, and imperforate anus. There is no similar service in this community which deals with the surgery of children; and the great good that it accomplishes is in the treatment of the surgical emergencies, malformations, and deformations of childhood.

The variety of rare surgical conditions which are seen at the Hospital is not fully indicated by the tables of diseases, because many urgent cases have to be turned away for the lack of beds, while others, less urgent, drift away as the result of long delays in securing admissions.

Thus to-day, January 13, there is, in spite of the fact that many cases sent for have not reported because treated elsewhere, a waiting list of fifty-two, one recommended to the Hospital in April, 1904, another in June, 1904, and a third in September, 1904.

Among the four hundred and five patients treated there were thirty-eight deaths. This mortality of about nine and one-half per cent indicates the exceedingly serious character of the diseases treated. A study of the causes of death shows that many of them were, in the present state of surgical knowledge, absolutely unavoidable. After operations undertaken deliberately, and not as a matter of necessity, there was one death, from broncho-pneumonia, complicated by acetone-mia. This one death among the four hundred patients represents the small and perhaps inevitable risk of any operative interference. The remaining thirty-seven deaths were in cases where an attempt was made to save life in an all but hopeless condition.

The number of patients treated in the General Surgical Out-Patient Department was 1339. The total number of visits made by these patients was 3881.

The character of the cases treated is indicated in a general way by the tables of diseases. A little over two hundred patients have had abscesses and infections of the lymph nodes of the neck. In the majority of instances these were due to inflammation of the tonsils or the naso-pharynx. A large number of patients are treated in the Throat Department for infections of the naso-pharynx and tonsils, and are cured, but the cases that come to the Surgical Department are more severe in character. These patients in the Throat Department and Surgical Department represent a portion of the children who are infected by filthy, dust-laden streets.

The number of accidents treated in the Out-Patient Department is comparatively small.

The number of cases of hernia is large. One-fifth of the children treated in the department are ruptured. There is to-day a waiting list of twenty-six children with hernia, there is no similar disease which at the present time can be treated by operation so safely and with such assurance of permanent success as inguinal hernia. If cured in childhood the dangers incident to the condition are removed; the care, anxiety, expense, and annoyance of mechanical treatment, which must usually be lifelong, are permanently obviated. The partial disability and loss of working capacity are saved to the community. The satisfactory results of operative cure are indicated in the report of the house cases.

Twenty-eight cases of nevus have been treated during the year. Unfortunately most of these have been neglected until they have grown to many times their original size. Excision, electrolysis, or cauterization have been the usual methods of treatment adopted. It is to be hoped that in time the public may be educated to ask for immediate and radical treatment of any birthmark, however slight it may be, which shows any tendency whatever to grow.

Eighty malformations scarcely indicate the variety of rare congenital diseases which come to the Hospital. Aside from the direct good which can be done to these patients the cases are invaluable for purposes of instruction and the methods devised and adapted for curing these diseases are transmitted to practitioners, and diffuse knowledge of great benefit to the community.

There are only two beds in the Hospital which are available for the treatment of orthopedic or surgical cases in children under two years of age. This has two results: 1. Babes brought to the Hospital frequently have to be sent elsewhere. 2. The public and outside physicians are discouraged in sending these patients to the Hospital.

In the Out-Patient Department all operations are done which it is thought may be done with safety under out-patient conditions. In some instances the imperative demand, made upon the limited number of beds in the wards, obliges operations to be done in the Out-Patient Department that might better be done in the hospital. Two hundred and eleven operations have been performed; seventy-three of these have been on abscesses, seventy-two have been circumcisions, and thirty cases of nevus. The remainder have been for various injuries and diseases.

ORTHOPEDIC DEPARTMENT

THE work of the Orthopedic Department of the Hospital should be considered under two heads. First, the work in the wards, and second, in the Out-Patient Department.

The work in the wards during the last year has been less than it would otherwise have been on account of the very limited accommodations of the temporary Convalescent Home, pending rebuilding, which has made it impossible to send to Wellesley any considerable number of children convalescing from operation, freeing the beds in the Hospital, and making it possible to admit and care for more cases. As a result of this there has been at nearly all times a long waiting list of applicants for admission, many of the cases urgently requiring operation. With the opening of the Convalescent Home a few months ago the matter has been in a measure remedied, but even now the demand for beds is in excess of the supply, and many cases must wait an unduly long time for admission.

In the list of operations it is of interest to note the relatively large number of operations performed for congenital dislocation of the hip, and for tendon transplantation in infantile paralysis, the two operative procedures which at present are of the greatest interest in the orthopedic world on account of the relief afforded in conditions for which little could be formerly accomplished.

At the Hospital the results of the treatment of congenital dislocation of the hip have been most successful, and a report of the results of 144 cases observed and treated at the Hospital from 1884 to 1903 inclusive was made by the orthopedic staff in 1904. Of cases operated in 1903 the percentage of success was sixty-six and six tenths per cent ; eighteen per cent were improved and fifteen per cent were failures.

The elaboration of an apparatus to facilitate the reduction of these dislocated hips has been carried out at the Hospital and a new method of treatment has thus been added to those already in use. The methods in use at the Hospital in this affection are being followed in other institutions in different parts of the country.

The Children's Hospital has always stood for conservatism as opposed to operative measures in the treatment of tuberculosis of the joints, such as hip disease, and when German and English authorities were speaking strongly in favor of early operative measures upon these cases the attitude of the Children's Hospital remained unchanged. It is gratifying to note that at the International Congress held in Brussels in September, 1905, at which meeting the Hospital was represented, the consensus of opinion among the foreign surgeons was entirely in favor of the conservative treatment, a conclusion in line with the policy advocated by the staff of The Children's Hospital during the last twenty years.

Under the present conditions of the old Hospital building and the great increase of the work done in it, the operating facilities are entirely inadequate, and although by strict care the asepsis of the Hospital is satisfactory, the Operative Department is very much in need of division and extension. It is gratifying to note that the number of graduate students studying orthopedic surgery at the Hospital is steadily increasing, and that they come from a wider area, all parts of the country now being represented. In this way the influence of the Hospital is being enlarged, the teaching capacity increased, and one of the duties for which a hospital exists in the extension of its benefits beyond its walls is secured.

The Orthopedic Out-Patient Department increases steadily in the number of cases treated and in the efficiency of its treatment. The fact that more interest is taken in orthopedic surgery in the community at large is helpful in giving a larger supply of assistants, and the change in the teaching at the Medical School has made it possible to employ the students taking the course in orthopedic surgery as assistants in the department, thus increasing its efficiency.

In 1885 there were 301 out-patients treated, including patients in general surgery; ten years later, in 1895, there were treated 875 patients, including patients in general surgery. In 1905 there were treated 1035 new orthopedic cases, and 1339 cases of general surgery in the General Surgical Department. The number of 2374 new cases in orthopedic and general surgery is therefore to be set against the figures given above. There were also treated in the year 1905, 5166 old cases, making a total of 5201 visits.

The establishment of the new Convalescent Home, with its facilities for out-door treatment of joint tuberculosis, and the extension of the Out-Door Relief Department has made it possible to extend the work of the Out-Patient Department by enabling it to provide both nourishing food and fresh air, along with nursing and country surroundings, for children who would otherwise live in crowded tenements, and also of enabling the cases which are too sick to attend the Hospital to be taken care of at their homes by the out-door relief nurse.

The Charitable Surgical Appliance Shop, which is situated in the basement of the Out-Patient Department of The Children's Hospital, has been placed on a more economical basis, and braces and necessary appliances are furnished to Hospital patients practically at cost. It is hoped in the near future to extend the work of the Out-Patient Department by giving instruction to the mothers, of the children with joint tuberculosis, regarding the proper care and home surroundings of such children. In this way it is hoped to secure for them more nourishing and better food, fresh air, and greater comfort than now exists in the case of the children of the poorer classes under the care of the Hospital.

LATERAL CURVATURE CLINIC

THE lateral curvature clinic, which is conducted as a subdivision of the Orthopedic Department, is an interesting and important development of the work. Where statistics of school children are taken, as has been done in Russia, Denmark, Germany, and Switzerland, about twenty-six per cent are found to have some degree of lateral curvature of the spine. As there is no reason to suppose that American children are less affected than is indicated in these figures, it is obvious that the department undertaking the care of such cases has a wide usefulness both in the care and treatment of the children and in the training of teachers of physical education.

Prior to 1890 no attempt had been made at the Hospital to treat cases of lateral curvatures separately from other orthopedic patients. They were treated when they appeared, but with no proper facilities, and the treatment was unsatisfactory. In 1886 to 1890 only 87 applied for treatment. In 1890 an attempt was made to treat the cases more systematically by setting apart a room in the Out-Patient Department. The department gradually grew, and the exercises were given by volunteer assistants from the various schools giving instruction in physical education. Even under these conditions the supply of assistants was irregular, and in January, 1905, an arrangement was made, with the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, by which attendance at the clinic of the Hospital became a part of the regular course of training at the School, the pupils of the School being sent to the Hospital for a period of eight months each, under the supervision of their instructors, the whole work being under the direction of the assistant surgeons of the Hospital; in return for this work the students received instruction in lateral curvature from the assistant surgeons. In the year that the scheme has been on trial it has resulted in a great extension of the work of the clinic and a marked improvement in its efficiency. The number of cases applying for treatment is far in excess of the facilities of the department, as the quarters are entirely inadequate. It has therefore been decided to take only as many cases as can be treated efficiently, and the fact that the total visits for the year amount to 4,786 may give some idea of the work accomplished. Altogether during the year 165 cases have been treated. One hundred and seven new cases have applied, of which it has been possible to treat only 67, the remainder being placed on a waiting list. As many of these are in urgent need of treatment, the situation is most unsatisfactory.

Of the cases treated 129 were cases of lateral curvature, 100 of them being cases in which a structural change had occurred in the bones and therefore belonging to the more severe grades of this affection. The remainder were cases of faulty attitude, round shoulders, and miscellaneous affections.

In the severer cases from one to two hours work is demanded four times at least a week, and in the milder cases a certain amount of home work is insisted upon. Regular attendance is required, and any child absent, without a good excuse, is warned and then dropped from the clinic. In spite of this the Hospital finds itself with a long waiting list which it is unable to treat, and the cases accepted are treated under difficulties in a room of inadequate size and with insufficient ventilation.

It is gratifying to record that even under these conditions cases have made most satisfactory progress, and that the modern surgical treatment of lateral curvature is being systematically carried out in this institution to the best of its ability, an ability which would be greatly increased by proper provision in new quarters.

DEPARTMENT OF NERVOUS DISEASES

IN the great advance in the practice of medicine and surgery during the past twenty-five years, which almost revolutionized our methods in many branches and has more than quadrupled our capabilities for cure and relief, the Department of Neurology has had its full share. In 1880 this branch of medicine was in its infancy. Even in 1890 comparatively little was known about it by the general profession and still less by the laity. Now it has so advanced, its work is so definite, and its results so beneficial, that in spite of great difficulties, inherent in its character, it has won partial, if not adequate, recognition in public opinion.

This department in the Children's Hospital takes charge (I) of all cases of paralysis which do not need surgical or orthopedic treatment. These are numerous and somewhat varied. Many a child can be restored to the use and command of his limbs without the necessity of surgical operation or mechanical appliances; or when these are required, with the means at our disposal, we are able to render more permanent and more effective the results thus obtained. (II) Many of the conditions which are commonly known as "nervousness," dependent on the constitution of the child or on temporary causes, are here treated and the results in this direction are most important. (III) Those unfortunates and defectives who are afflicted with serious diseases or affections of the brain all come to this department. There is no class of children more to be pitied than the epileptics, and although cure may not be possible much can be done to relieve epilepsy, and possibly we may learn to prevent its occurrence. It is in this direction that our most earnest efforts are now turned.

The feeble-minded also are seen here and fitting advice is given for their care and provision. In these cases the parents, especially the mothers, are the persons to be pitied. Cure for these unfortunates is not possible, but an immense amount can be done to lessen the burden upon the afflicted household.

This department is of recent creation and began with very few patients, perhaps two or three a day. There are now, most of the time, from forty to sixty patients at each clinic. This means at least eighty to one hundred and twenty persons and often more, and our present waiting-room is now inadequate, even without the patients belonging to the Throat Department, who use it one day in the week. As our work becomes better known, as the less marked cases are recognized by the medical profession, and as the surrounding population increases, while we still continue to draw patients from a greater distance, our numbers are likely to increase. Our present accommodations are too small. We are much cramped. The assistant physician and the assistant have not sufficient room and are often obliged to do their work in the midst of inevitable noise and confusion.

The methods employed for mechanical treatment are massage and electricity, and the results are often beneficial beyond the expectation of the inexperienced. They can, however, only be accomplished through the personal work and the devotion of an expert masseuse, who has been connected with the Hospital for many years, and who with her assistant or assistants occupies one room in which twenty or more patients are treated at each clinic (twice a week). There is a large waiting list and the more important cases are given the earliest opportunity. Electricity (Faradism) is also used in many cases, either alone or in combination with the massage. This is given, under the direction of the assistant, by a nurse provided by the Hospital.

In addition to the mechanical treatment there are a number of patients who need simply medicine and regulation of the diet, as with ordinary medical patients. Much of the time and attention of the physician is also given to the instruction of the parents in cases of epilepsy and other forms of brain disease, where so much depends upon the suitable regulation of the life of the patient. In many cases of this class, from an intolerable nuisance the patient may be made to become, if not a useful, at least a less burdensome member of the family, or can be removed to some place fitted for his reception and care.

This department needs to be enlarged and to be encouraged; more room is wanted, more facilities, and as much public interest as possible in our peculiar and, we believe, most valuable work.

It should be noted that this department is the only one of its kind in New England, and that there are very few in the United States devoted wholly to the treatment of nervous diseases in children.

DEPARTMENT FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT

THE work done in this department may be justly considered as of importance, for the reason that, in every patient operated upon, obstacles to bodily, as well as to mental development, are removed and future diseases prevented.

That this is true is shown by the fact that many of our cases come to us from other departments for helpful diagnosis or for treatment of conditions.

The figures given show simply the number of applicants examined and treated and the material yearly increase of work done, but do not in any way indicate the kind or quality of that work, or its bearing upon the relief of conditions causative of other morbid processes. The medical departments, house and out-patient, frequently ask for the assistance of the Throat Department.

From December 28, 1904 to December 28, 1905

The number of new patients was	1193
The whole number of visits made	1907
Operations performed	332
The number of new patients in 1904 was	959
Number of visits	1587

X-RAY DEPARTMENT

THE scope and usefulness of the X-Ray Department at The Children's Hospital has constantly increased during the past year. The surgeons and physicians of the Hospital have found it of great value as a factor in the making of diagnoses, the accuracy of which, attained in this manner, have resulted in notable benefit to the patients, and its efforts are useful not only to the surgeons and physicians directly, but also, indirectly, to the patients and to the community at large.

Below is appended a table of the X-ray negatives made during the past year, classed under pathological conditions :

Fracture, 156 ; dislocation, 7 ; congenital deformities, 175 ; tuberculosis: of the shoulder, 2 ; of the hip, 191 ; of the knee, 62 ; of the spine, 21 ; of the ankle and foot, 22 ; of the wrist and hand, 5 ; osteomyelosis, 99 ; luetic conditions, 7 ; periostitis, 3 ; paralytic conditions, 7 ; other conditions, 24 ; lateral curvature of the spine, 16.

No diagnosis has been made in 34 cases, and negative results are noted in 102, making 843 cases in all.

THE PATHOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Surgical Specimens Examined	97
Bacteriological Examinations :
General	342
Throat	99
Dressings, Sutures, etc.	59
Autopsies	44

This does not include the blood examinations, typhoid and cytologic diagnoses, which have been made in a large number of cases by the House Officers.

A large number of cases of exceptional interest have shown the great value of this pathological work in the thorough understanding of the causes and course of disease. The number of cases and the opportunities that this Hospital offers for the study of the diseases of children are so great that there is a chance for the further development of this work.

A larger laboratory room where the Surgical, Medical, and Out-Patient Departments could each have a desk and microscope and the appointment of a pathological externe would meet this need.

OUT-DOOR RELIEF DEPARTMENT

The Out-Door Relief Department of the Hospital supplements and extends the work of the Hospital by caring for such patients, at their homes, as have been discharged from the wards or Convalescent Home, and who cannot, on account of their disability, visit the Out-Patient Department, and by providing nursing for out-patient cases too sick to attend the clinics, yet who do not for some reason require admission to the wards.

In the large clientele of the Out-Patient Department are many children living under unfavorable conditions at home, conditions which react seriously and delay proper progress toward recovery.

It is the aim of the out-door relief nurse to secure for these children better home surroundings, such as separate rooms, fresh air, some degree of cleanliness, as good food as maybe, and care on the part of the parents.

Considering the fact that the bulk of the patients under the care of this department are cases of chronic joint tuberculosis, and that many of the parents are careless, poor, and perhaps intemperate, the field for work in this department is a large one.

In a case of hip disease, for example, a useful joint is not to be obtained by a month's stay in the Hospital, nor by two months in the Convalescent Home, but by daily care at home for a period of two or three years. The work is intended to be not only helpful to the individual patients but educational also, in the sense of training the parents to co-operate with the surgeons of the Hospital, and to a higher level in the care of their homes and of their other children.

The department was organized in 1894 and placed under the supervision of the District Nursing Association of Boston. In 1896 the department was assumed by the Hospital and placed under the charge of the out-patient nurse, assisted by a third-year pupil nurse from the Training School, one of the assistant surgeons having general supervision of the visiting.

In November, 1905, with a view to developing the scope and amount of work, the department was put in charge of a graduate nurse who had taken the special course for social workers at Simmons College.

During the year 1905, 131 cases were visited, the total number of visits being 1713. This represents a great amount of work, as the cases are scattered and much time is lost in going from place to place, South Boston, East Boston, Roxbury, Charlestown, Hyde Park, Everett, Milton, Chelsea, Lynn, Mattapan, Canton, and Watertown, being on the list.

Hitherto the cases have been chiefly those from the orthopedic service, and the duty of the nurse has been to attend to surgical dressings, to instruct the mother in the care of the apparatus, in the value of fresh air and cleanliness, and in the proper feeding of these cases. Some of these children require daily visits, others are visited only once a month. Cases not doing well at home are told to report at the Out-Patient Department and are readmitted to the Hospital when necessary. Those whose surroundings make it impossible for them to have proper care at home are sent to the Convalescent Home, where they may be kept for as long a period as necessary, to insure, if possible, their complete recovery.

This department is indebted to a club of young ladies who have this winter undertaken to visit and follow up selected cases which no longer need the services of the nurse.

It is hoped to extend the work by adding the services of a pupil nurse from the Training School — both to extend the work and to secure the advantages of such training for the pupil nurses. The department has thus become not only an aid to the efficiency of the Hospital, but a factor for good in the field of general charitable work and must be regarded as of value to the community at large.

By a vote of the Corporation. — Any person giving to the Corporation, at one time, not less than five hundred dollars, has the privilege of affixing the name of a child to a bed in the Hospital, subject to the decision of the Managers in each case. This permission, however, does not carry with it any right or control over the bed named.

Memorial beds bearing the following names have been established :

DOROTHY QUINCY.
GEORGE F. KIMBALL.
LOUISE JULIA TUCKER.
JESSIE PRESTON DRAPER.
SARAH ELIZA THACHER.
LIVINGSTON WADSWORTH.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Training School of The Children's Hospital was established fifteen years ago. Ten years ago there were fifteen pupils in the school, who took a two years' course and were paid eight and fifteen dollars per month. They lived in the Hospital, and were on duty in the wards from 5.45 A.M. to 8.00 P.M. A weekly class through the winter months was given, using Clara Weeks's text-book of nursing. The experience in the wards was limited to the care of orthopedic cases, with children from two to twelve years of age.

A few years later the addition of the medical wards and Out-Patient building afforded the nurses the opportunity of a wider experience.

In 1896 the course was lengthened to three years, and arrangements were made for special courses for third-year pupils at the Infants' Hospital and St. Margaret's Infirmary. At this time a carefully graded course of theoretical instruction was prepared. The first-year students received one hundred hours' teaching in anatomy and physiology, and weekly classes in nursing and demonstrations in practical work were given. In the second year the nursing classes were continued, and thirty lectures on medical and surgical subjects were given by the Staff, quizzes on each lecture being conducted by the Superintendent of Nurses ; and it was found necessary to adopt an eight-hour system of practical work, in order to afford students time for increased study. These changes proved most satisfactory, the number of students increased, and it became necessary to provide a special home outside of the hospital. A house was taken on Gainsboro Street in 1896 for the incoming class of probationers. From this time the pupils received no monthly allowance, but board, laundry, and uniforms were provided.

Three additional houses have since been rented, thus affording ample room for the entire school. In the dormitory for Simmons students quiet rooms for study are provided, and in the main house there are parlors where students can receive their friends, enjoy music, teas, or any recreation they choose. A resident cooking teacher has been added to the teaching staff, and the pupils receive practical instruction in cooking and housekeeping.

In 1901 the admission of sick babies to the Hospital made it unnecessary to continue any longer sending the pupils to the Infants' Hospital. In the same year a four months' course at the Massachusetts General Hospital was substituted for that at St. Margaret's Infirmary.

In 1904 an arrangement was made with Simmons College whereby our students should take a special scientific course for four months during the probationary term. During this time pupils spend five or six hours daily at the College in lectures, recitations, and experimental work in the chemical and bacteriological laboratories, whose perfect equipment affords every advantage.

On Saturdays classes in ethics and hospital work are given, which keep the students in touch with the work to which they are looking forward.

The course at Simmons College is difficult, and only those having a high school diploma are able to take the examinations.

Students completing this course enter the Hospital ready for immediate instruction on medical and surgical subjects, which were formerly not given until the second year. They have shown greater aptitude for the work, grasping it more easily because of the foundation laid at the College.

About the same time the Simmons course was introduced the Corey Hill Hospital in Brookline offered us the opportunity of sending to them two or more senior pupils for a three months' service each. This course has proved of great value to the students. They not only enjoy the work, but benefit greatly by the broadening outlook given by this wholly different experience.

Thus twelve months are spent in courses outside of The Children's Hospital, and the two years of practical work remaining is divided as far as possible into the following periods: six months, medical work; three months, operating room; two months, out-patient department; three months, outdoor relief; three months, infants' ward; two months, diet kitchen; six months, orthopedic and general surgery.

The theoretical teaching has developed almost wholly into clinical instruction. The probationers are given twenty-five demonstrations by their instructor in practical ward work. Later a four months' series of clinics is given in the wards of the Hospital by a paid instructor.

The lectures by the Medical Staff include those on operating technique ; a course on the care of orthopedic cases ; a course on anæsthesia, plaster work, massage, and the special senses, — eye, ear, throat, nose, etc. Through the whole course weekly classes and demonstrations are given by a graduate nurse on ethics and all nursing subjects, including six lectures on a nurse's duty in private work.

During the last year return postals were sent to all graduates doing private work, asking how many weeks they had been employed and how many weeks idle. In the replies two weeks without employment was the longest time reported in any case, with the exception of voluntary vacations.

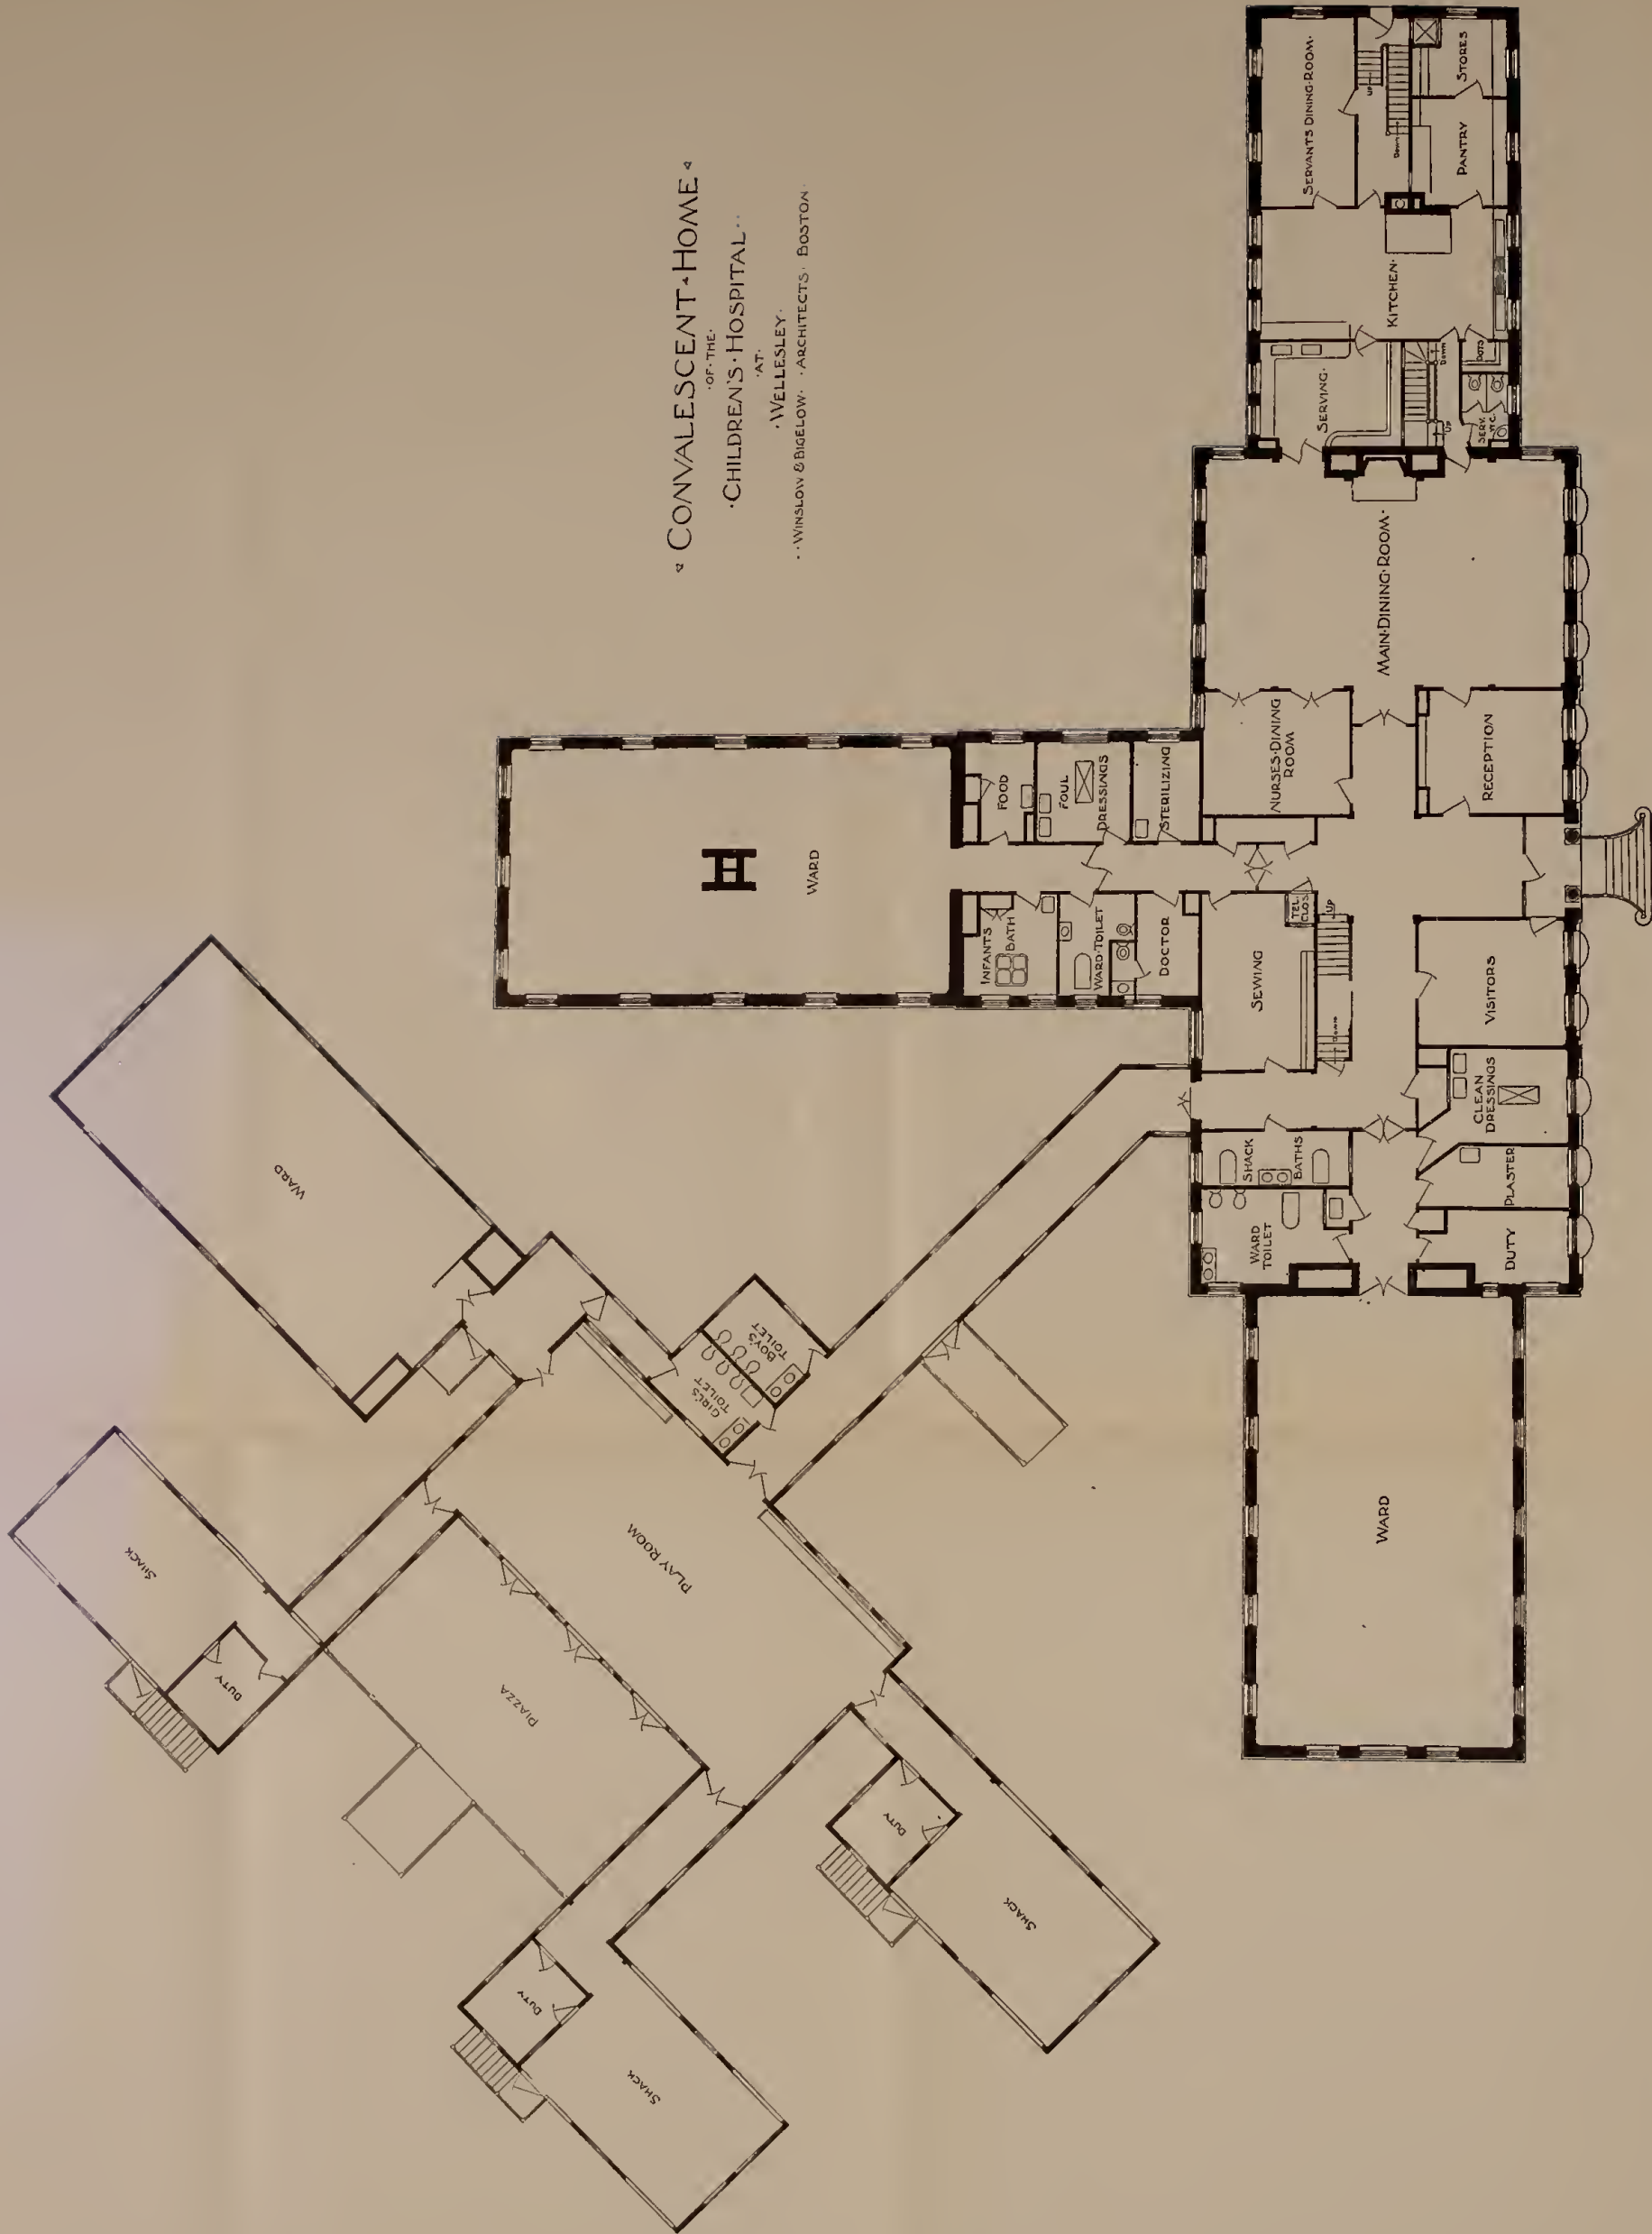

The demand for Children's Hospital graduates to fill institutional positions has in the past few years greatly exceeded the supply, though each year more of our graduate nurses are taking responsible positions in hospitals, schools, homes for crippled children, etc.

The points of especial interest in connection with the school to-day are : —

1. A preliminary scientific course of four months at Simmons College.
2. The eight-hour system, the nurses working in the wards eight hours out of the twenty-four.
3. The home life outside of the Hospital when off duty.
4. The steady employment assured to graduates.

The present Staff of the school consists of one Superintendent of Nurses, one Assistant Superintendent of Nurses, one Instructor Probationers, one Night Supervisor, Head Nurse of Out-Patient Department, Head Nurse of Outdoor Relief, Head Nurse of Operating Room, one resident Cooking Teacher, one Instructor Massage, one Clinical Instructor.

Whereas ten years ago students were paid to work twelve hours daily in the wards, now students pay a tuition fee and there are five resident teachers and three special outside paid instructors.

 CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

 WINSLOW & BIGELOW, ARCHITECTS, BOSTON

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twenty-first Annual Report. The past year has been a busy and anxious one, but it is a pleasure to announce that the new Home at Wellesley Hills has been opened with sixty children to begin with, and room for forty more when it is felt that the management can afford to receive them.

The formal opening took place on the 24th of October, with a short and simple service of dedication by Bishop Lawrence, and was attended by a large number of friends who came from Boston and adjoining towns to show their interest and sympathy in the work.

Afternoon tea was served and everybody was invited to inspect the Home from cellar to attic, and all agreed in expressing approval of the simple, unadorned, and wholly practical character of the building. The visitors were especially interested in the shacks, or wooden unplastered sheds, built in accordance with the plans of several doctors, in order to carry out as far as possible the fresh-air treatment so often applied of late in adult cases for the cure of tuberculous and nervous diseases. One of these shacks is the large playroom, the whole front of which consists of glass sliding-doors opening on to a sunny, uncovered piazza. Here the kindergarten teacher comes three times a week, and no baby is too small and no patient too helpless to take some real or fancied part in the pretty plays provided.

Miss Brooke, the efficient and faithful head-nurse for many years, having left, Miss Davidson is now in charge, with Miss Robinson and Miss Rainsford as assistants.

Thanks to the kindness of one of the Managers, the grounds of the Home have been attractively planted and improved by a landscape gardener, and several hundred small pines have been set out to serve the double purpose of a screen from the road and a pleasure grove for the patients in the future. The Managers wish to express to Messrs. Winslow & Bigelow, Architects, and to their assistants, Messrs. Walker & Leach, to Mr. Stephen Child, landscape gardener, and to Mr. Joseph W. Peabody, real estate agent of Wellesley, their hearty appreciation of the interest they have shown in the Home and the work they have accomplished there.

During the past year 338 children have been admitted, with a daily average of 53, against an average of 29 in 1904, before the new building was completed.

Some of the surgical cases are kept for many weeks, and even months, in order to build up the strength of the patients before returning them to their homes. Although the new Home has been built within the sum so liberally subscribed by its many warm friends, yet its increased size and the greater number of children cared for necessarily involve a corresponding increase in all the current expenses, such as lighting, heating, care of the house and grounds, a larger staff of nurses and servants, and a special night-engineer for the furnaces. Therefore the Managers will feel the necessity of soon making their annual appeal to the generosity which has never failed them yet. The doctors and surgeons of the Hospital have as usual kept the patients under systematic supervision, visiting them regularly every week. To them and to Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley the Managers would express their thanks; also to the Sisters of St. Margaret, whose unfailing devotion to both Hospital and Home can never be fully estimated.

The Managers provide the Hospital in Boston as well as the Home in Wellesley Hills with all the clothing, boots, and shoes for the children; jackets and aprons for the surgeons; and all bed and table-linen, as well as bandages. The weekly meetings for cutting out this work began in November at the Hospital, under the direction of the Vice-President, Mrs. Davis, who beside many of the Managers has a corps of volunteers to assist her. Last year more than 14,000 pieces of work were prepared and given out to friends of the Managers and poor women to be finished.

Before closing this Report the Managers wish to speak of the great loss which came to them during the year in the death of Mrs. Arthur Amory, who was for more than twenty years a valued and beloved member of their Board. The memory of her unfailing interest and sympathy, and her charming personality, will live in the hearts of her friends.

MARY B. HUNNEWELL,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE.

THE Building Committee was appointed at the meeting of the Managers on February 2, 1903, for the purpose of superintending the work connected with the erection of the new Home. The Committee consisted of the President, the Vice-President, Mrs. Amory, Mrs. Shaw, and Mrs. Monks.

This Committee held its first meeting on March 11, 1903. All the members were present, as were also Mr. Gordon Abbott, representing the Trustees of the Hospital, and Dr. Brackett, representing the Medical Staff. Mrs. Monks was appointed secretary. At this meeting it was unanimously agreed that the firm of Winslow and Bigelow be asked to furnish plans and to undertake the work of constructing the new buildings. Dr. Brackett strongly urged that provision be made for a larger number of patients than the old home would accommodate. On June 1 the perfected plans were submitted by the architects and were approved by the Committee. On July 8 the estimates for the entire work, amounting to $150,000, were received. As these estimates were much higher than the Committee had expected, and as it was thought that these plans could not be modified so as to materially lower the estimates, it was Voted: "That an appeal be inserted in the daily papers asking for an additional $60,000, and that further consideration of the plans be deferred until the result of the appeal is known."

Later, however, the President directed that the publication of this appeal should be postponed, for the reason that she had requested the physicians of the Hospital, through Dr. Bradford, to make investigations as to the best method of caring for tuberculous patients in a convalescent home, and to report to her. At a subsequent meeting it was Voted: "That the President be upheld in her action of directing the Secretary to delay issuing the general appeal." A report from

Drs. Bradford and Burrell, being the conclusions of the Committee to investigate the subject of the care of tuberculous patients, was then read.

It was decided to present this report to the Board of Managers at their October meeting. As a result of this report it was determined to build at once, at the temporary Home, one shack, in order to try the effect on some of the children of fresh-air treatment, and if this treatment proved to be beneficial, to make such alterations in the plans as would provide accommodations for a greater number of patients in the shacks. Finally, in January, it was voted that a new set of plans be drawn, and that it be recommended to the Board that $100,000 be spent in erecting the new buildings and shacks. The Managers agreed to these recommendations, and on June 28, 1904, the new plans were approved. It was then voted that the work of draining the land and arranging the system of sewerage be started at once. Building was begun in August, 1904, though the ceremony connected with the placing of the corner-stone did not take place till November 7. On September 25, 1905, the children were moved into the new Home, which was at that time practically finished.

In addition to the business done at the regular meeting of the Committee, a great deal of work has been accomplished by the President and individual members of the Committee in considering the various problems as they arose and in superintending the work.

They wish to make special mention of the great assistance they received in making their final decisions and in overseeing the work, from Messrs. Bigelow, Walker and Leach, Sister Caroline, and also from Mr. Bird.

As the building is now completed, and as the purpose for which the Building Committee was appointed no longer requires its attention, your Committee respectfully begs to be discharged.

OLGA E. MONKS,
Secretary of Building Committee.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

THE report of the work at the Convalescent Home may perhaps be supplemented by a short description of the surgical aspect of the work, especially in regard to the very important part of the out-door treatment of bone tuberculosis which is being carried on here.

When the former Convalescent Home was destroyed by fire three years ago, the Managers of the institution adopted the suggestion to deal with convalescent cases of bone tuberculosis by the open-air treatment, and a certain number of patients were placed in a shack, with free openings to the outer air, which was erected near the house hired for the temporary Convalescent Home. The results of the open-air treatment provided for these delicate children have been most remarkable, and a marked increase of weight and in the percentage of the blood coloring matter followed the change from the wards of the Hospital to the open-air shacks. The simple fact that a gain in flesh, in a non-selected number of patients, of one pound a week followed the transference of the children from the wards of a hospital in the city is significant.

It must be remembered that these children were not taken directly from the slums or tenement houses, but had for many weeks received the best of care and of food which the intown hospital could furnish. They were then taken to the Convalescent Home and given the benefit of the open-air treatment, not simply during a few hours in the day, but both night and day. Not only did the weight and the blood coloring show an improvement, but the local progress of the disease was, in a majority of cases, markedly influenced for good, and certain cases, where more than one joint was affected, reached a stage of improvement which would have been believed impossible under former conditions of treatment.

In the new Convalescent Home open-air shacks have been provided, and the Home, as at present planned, can take care of one hundred children; with a comparatively small additional outlay the institution would be enabled to take care of a greatly increased number. The fact that some ten thousand cases of joint tuberculosis have been treated at the Hospital in the last thirty years may indicate the frequency of this affection. It is of great interest to have established the fact that even in this latitude it is possible, and advisable, to keep children with tuberculosis of the joints, such as hip disease, out of doors day and night, winter and summer, — a fact which has for a long time been recognized in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis. The working out of the matter is not only of great benefit to the individual children, but has an obvious educational effect on the community at large.

The usefulness of the Hospital and the scope of its work has been immensely increased by the development of the Convalescent Home. With its perfect equipment it is now possible to send patients convalescing from operations out of the wards at an earlier date than would otherwise be possible, and as has been mentioned, they are thus placed in a more favorable condition for progress. It is reasonable to expect that the development of this, as of all modern children's hospitals, will be in the line of accentuating the importance of a convalescent home and of making the hospital in the city more of an acute hospital for operative cases.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twenty-Second Annual Report.

It is now a little more than a year since the new Home has been running (it will be remembered that the original building was destroyed by fire in January, 1903), and the record shows a steady increase in the work and consequently in the expenses of the Institution.

A few necessary and important changes and improvements have been made and the work has gone on methodically and smoothly under the efficient guidance of Miss Davidson and her assistants, who in turn are under the supervision of the Superintendent of The Children's Hospital.

A few times it has been necessary to close the doors to newcomers when contagious diseases such as measles, whooping-cough, and scarlet fever have broken out; and in this connection it may be said that it was found necessary to limit the large number of Sunday visitors who were in the habit of going to see the patients, chiefly parents who brought their entire families with them, thereby greatly increasing the danger of contagious diseases at the Home. The experience of all hospitals shows that it is wise to make some charge for the board and care of patients, therefore those who have the means are asked to pay at the Home the same amount as that charged at the Hospital. No poor child however is turned away, but is received and treated free of charge, or for whatever small sum the parent may feel able to give.

The Home is under regular supervision of a doctor from the Hospital, who goes there once a week and sends in reports to the heads of the various departments. In case of any sudden illness or emergency, Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley is summoned, and thanks are due to him for his prompt and ready assistance on several occasions.

The heating, plumbing, and lighting plant is also under supervision of the firm of Densmore and Leclear, who make about eight visits in the year at unstated intervals. In their report they have commended the foreman and engineer for their conscientious and efficient care of the furnaces. The heating of the shacks forms no small part of the added expenses, as it takes an average of two tons of coal per day to feed the fires. The Trustees of the Hospital pay for a special electric car which carries a load of sick children to the Home every week, weather permitting, in care of a house-surgeon and trained nurse. The patients are met at Wellesley Hills by the foreman of the Home, who also has a load of convalescents who are sent back on the same car to the Hospital, where they are examined by the doctors before being despatched to their own homes.

The Managers and a corps of volunteer helpers under the direction of the Vice President, Mrs. Davis, meet each week during the winter at the Hospital, for the purpose of cutting out and preparing the large amount of work needed for use in both Hospital and Home.

This work is given out to be finished to friends of the Managers and to poor women. It comprises all the bed and table-linen, towels, bandages, jackets and aprons for the surgeons, and all the clothing, boots and shoes for the children.

The Managers also give Christmas trees to both Institutions, and when they went to the Home to help celebrate the Christmas festival there, each one was pleasantly surprised by a gift, carefully made, signed and tied up by the Kindergarten Children. The work of this Class is very successful. It was started as an experiment in October, 1905, and now those in charge feel that they could hardly do without it, because of the real benefit it is to the children in keeping them interested and pleasantly occupied four times a week.

To the Sisters of St. Margaret the Managers offer earnest thanks for their constant and unflinching devotion to the Hospital and Home.

An important change has been made this year at the Hospital and Sister Katharine is now Superintendent instead of Sister Caroline, who has been elected Superior of the Order of St. Margaret and was obliged to give up the position which she has held with so much ability and honor for many years. The work of the Hospital and Home is so closely connected as to be nearly identical, so that her influence for good was almost equally felt in both Institutions.

A comparison of the following tables will show to those interested the growth of the work in the year 1906.
